

LIST OF CONTRIBUTORS

Dr. Diana BABUŠYTĚ is a German language teacher at Vilnius University, renowned for her expertise and dedication to education. With a deep passion for the German language and culture, she has significantly contributed to the Department of German Philology. Babušytė's teaching methodology emphasizes interactive and immersive learning experiences, fostering a profound understanding of the language among her students. Her academic background and extensive knowledge enable her to design comprehensive curricula that cater to various proficiency levels. Babušytė is also involved in various academic projects and exchanges, enhancing cross-cultural communication and collaboration.

Diana BEBENOVA-NIKOLOVA is a PhD Lecturer in Comparative Linguistics at Silistra Branch of Ruse University, Bulgaria, where she has been doing research and academic projects since 2015. Previously, she was a visiting lecturer at Danubius University in Romania and Hubei Technological University in China, focusing on intercultural communication as part of the Erasmus+ Exchange Program. Since 2008 until now, Diana has managed international cooperation projects and conducted research for various NGOs, organizing events as an Eurodesk multiplier. From 1999 to 2006, she led the Economic Development and International Programs Department for the Municipality of Silistra, Bulgaria. Earlier, she taught Computer Science and English at a vocational school in Silistra from 1987 to 1997. dbebenova@abv.bg, dbebenova@uni-ruse.bg

Lăcrămioara BERECHET este profesor universitar doctor în Departamentul de filologie română, limbi clasice și balcanice, la Universitatea „Ovidius” din Constanța, titular la Facultatea de Litere din anul 1996. Prof. dr. Lăcrămioara Berechet a susținut cursuri și seminare de Literatură română, Modele culturale, Mit și literatură și Studii despre text. A publicat numeroase studii de literatură română și cinci cărți de unic autor, Ficțiunea inițiativă la Mircea Eliade, Editura Pontica, 2003, care a primit Premiul național al Uniunii Scriitorilor din România, Asociația Scriitorilor din București, pentru cel mai bun eseu de critică literară, pe anul 2003, Modele culturale literare la marginea imperiilor, Eseu despre romanul românesc interbelic, Editura University Press, 2009, Mitul ca literatură, literatura ca mit, Editura Exponto, Constanța, 2008, Sinele complex al literaturii. Dialogurile alterității, Editura Universitară, București, 2017, Supraviețuirile sacralului. Scenarii posibile în literatura lui Mircea Eliade, Editura Institutul European, Iasi, 2017, pentru care a primit Marele Premiu FESTLIT, al Uniunii Scriitorilor din România și Premiul Filialei Dobrogea, al Uniunii Scriitorilor din România.

Nicolae BOBARU holds a doctoral degree in Comparative Literature. His areas of interest include modern and postmodern world literature, maritime literature and literary theory. He has published several articles on sea fiction in different journals and contributed to the volume Critical Insights. Life of Pi. His most recent project is a book about Christopher Columbus, which will be published by Bloomsbury Publishing INC. in 2025, while his doctoral thesis Imaginarul marin în proza postmodernistă (The Maritime Imaginary in Postmodern Fiction) is set to appear in December 2023 with Bucharest University Press.

Hristo BOEV, PhD is an associate professor of English and American Literature at the Faculty of Humanities, University of Shumen, Bulgaria. He is the author of the books: Modern(ist) Portrayals of the City in Dickens and Dos Passos, The Different Dobruja in the Literature between the Wars (original title in Bulgarian) and Feminine Selves in Sylvia Plath's Prose and Poetry: The Perspective of Compared Lived Experience in Fiction. He is also a translator of English and Romanian with numerous literary translations to his credit. His main interests lie in the fields of Comparative Literature, Modernism, Literary Urbanism, Geocriticism and the Art of translation.

Iuliia BUDAS is an associate professor at the Foreign Languages Department of the Faculty of Foreign Languages, Vinnytsia Mykhailo Kotsiubynskyi State Pedagogical University. She graduated from Yuriy Fedkovych Chernivtsi National University, Faculty of Romano-Germanic Philology. Later, she earned her PhD (2010) in Theory and Methods of Professional Education at Vinnytsia Mykhailo Kotsiubynskyi State Pedagogical University. Due to the war, since 2022, she has been living in Poland, delivering online lectures to her students scattered around the world. Her research interests include the formative assessment of foreign language proficiency, feedback literacy, and developing students' motivation. She has also been focusing on ways to intensify students' interaction during online learning.

Daniela CRĂCIUN este conferențiar la Universitatea Ovidius Constanța, Facultatea de Litere. Este doctor în filologie italiană cu o teză despre Giovanni Papini. Predă cursuri de literatură italiană modernă și de cultură și civilizație italiană. A publicat studii și articole despre literatură italiană modernă și relațiile acesteia cu literatură română. Cărți publicate: Opera di Giovanni Papini (2012, Ex Ponto, Constanta), Narcisismo e fuga dal reale. Moderno e postmoderno in Guido Gozzano (2022, ProUniversitaria).

Andrei CRIȘAN is a teaching assistant and PhD candidate at the Babeș-Bolyai University, Cluj-Napoca.

Născută la 21 septembrie 1974, în județul Dâmbovița, Cristina-Valentina DAFINOIU a urmat în perioada 1993-1997 cursurile Facultății de Litere din cadrul Universității „Ovidius” din Constanța la specializarea Limba și literatura română - Filologie balcanică, apoi programul de masterat Istoria limbii române și dialectologie. În anul 2005 a obținut titlul de doctor în filologie cu lucrarea Elemente vechi grecești comune limbilor balcanice, pătrunse până în secolul al XVI-lea. Studiu comparativ fono-morfo-semantic. A fost pe rând asistent, apoi lector și în prezent este conferențiar universitar în cadrul Departamentului de Filologie română, limbi clasice și balcanice al Facultății de Litere, Universitatea „Ovidius” din Constanța, unde predă limba română ca limbă străină și cursul teoretic de cultură și civilizație românească studenților străini din Anul pregătitor, cursuri de cultură și civilizație balcanică, de limbă neogreacă în cadrul Masteratului de Relații publice și dezvoltare interculturală, precum și cursul de limba română în context balcanic, studenților de la Masteratul Studii de Românică. În paralel cu activitatea didactică, dna. Cristina-Valentina Dafinoiu este preocupată de următoarele domenii de cercetare: didactica limbii române ca limbă străină, istoria limbii române și nu în ultimul rând lingvistica balcanică, direcție în care autoarea urmărește cu precădere problemele legate de istoria și influența limbii grecești atât asupra limbii române, cât și asupra celorlalte limbi balcanice, arii de interes în care autoarea a publicat numeroase volume, studii și articole.

Cristina DIMULESCU (PhD) is a Lecturer at Transilvania University (Romania), teaching Pragmatics, Discourse Analysis and practical courses in translations, structures and vocabulary. Her research is focused on interactional sociolinguistics, conversation analysis and translations. She attends international conferences where she presents her research and she published a large array of scientific articles and a book with Omniscryptum Publishing. She is the Erasmus Coordinator at faculty level and she is involved in the process of internationalization of the Faculty of Letters and development of international links which promote the exchange of experience for both students and academic staff. She was also a key expert in the 2019- 2022/Erasmus+ Project: “Language guidance tool for improving language knowledge/LANGUIDE”, initiated by Univerza Na Primorskem Universita Del Litorale, Koper/Slovenia and has been focused on E-Learning Platform Usage and Acceptance of Technology after the COVID-19 Pandemic: The Case of Transilvania University in her latest ISI publications.

Natalia DMITRENKO is a doctor of pedagogical sciences (Theory and Methods of Teaching English), a professor at the Foreign Languages Department of the Faculty of Foreign Languages, Vinnytsia Mykhailo Kotsiubynskyi State Pedagogical University, Ukraine. She teaches Methods of Teaching English for pre-service teachers of English and English for Specific Purposes for prospective teachers of mathematics, physics and informatics. Her academic interests are in the field of English for specific and academic purposes, methods of teaching English, autonomous learning, SEL, CLIL, PBL, and ICT in teaching English. She is the author of more than 200 publications.

Roxana Elena DONCU graduated from the University of Bucharest with a degree in English and Russian studies. She completed her Ph.D. in cultural and literary studies at the same university. She is currently an associate professor in the Modern Languages Department at the “Carol Davila” University of Medicine and Pharmacy in Bucharest. Her research interests cover areas such as postcolonial and post-communist studies, Black Sea studies, world literature, translation and medical humanities. She is a member of the international research group on Literary Modeling at St. Kliment Ohridski University of Sofia and the University of Münster, where she has been invited to teach at the graduate school of British, American and Postcolonial Studies.

Selma ELKASOVIĆ holds an Assistant position at the Juraj Dobrila University in Pula, where she has been teaching English language: Translation and Contemporary English Language since 2022. She graduated from the Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences in Rijeka where she received her MA degree in English and Croatian in 2020. She defended her dissertation on the topic of errors in the use of temporal prepositions among Croatian speakers of English language. Her research interests are foreign language acquisition and ELT/ESP methodology.

Tetiana FEDYK is an assistant at the Foreign Languages Department of the Faculty of Foreign Languages, Vinnytsia Mykhailo Kotsiubynskyi State Pedagogical University, Ukraine, where she teaches English for Specific Purposes. Her research interests cover areas such as methodology, digital environment, and professional communication. She is the author of QR-codes: their creation and usage at the English language lesson (Ukraine, 2023), Creation of comics and their use for the development of dialogue speech skills at the English language lessons (Ukraine, 2023).

Dilyan GATEV holds a B.A. in English and American Studies (English Philology), with teaching qualification and qualification in translation, from St. Kliment Ohridski University of Sofia, Bulgaria. His M.A. is also in English and American Studies (English Philology), Master's program "Communication: Language, Literature, Mass Media", from St. Kliment Ohridski University of Sofia, Bulgaria. His Ph.D. is in the Methodology of Teaching Modern Languages, Doctoral program "The Methodology of Teaching Modern Languages", from New Bulgarian University – Sofia, Bulgaria. He has been working as a lecturer and senior lecturer (of English) at the University of National and World Economy – Sofia, Bulgaria, since September 2013. His main research interests are in the fields of teaching English for specific purposes (ESP), business English teaching and specialized / terminological vocabulary teaching and acquisition. Email address: d.p.gatev@unwe.bg

Patrizia GIAMPIERI, PhD, is an adjunct professor of English at the University of Camerino (MC, Italy). She is a Member of the European Society for Translation Studies. She has authored books and academic papers on English as a second language, legal English and legal translation, corpus-based translation, machine translation, English for Academic Purposes, and English for Special Purposes. Her last scientific monograph is titled "Corpus-based translation of private legal documents" (John Benjamins, 2024). patrizia.giampieri@unicam.it

Dalia GULBINSKIENĖ is a lecturer at the Department of Foreign Languages, Vilnius Gediminas Technical University (VilniusTech). Since 2001 she taught English for Specific Purposes at Lithuanian University of Educational Sciences, Mykolas Romeris University. Her scientific interests in the domain of humanities include foreign language didactics, foreign language teaching and learning at tertiary level, professional English language training, adult learning, reflective learning, language learning motivation, intercultural education, creativity development in modern education system, education digitalization. The researcher is also engaged in linguistics and translation research.

Anita HEGEDŰS, PhD, has been involved in teaching and assessing English and Hungarian for Medical Purposes and at the University of Pécs, Medical School for 24 years. She earned a PhD in corpus linguistics in 2009. She has been the chief examiner of PROFEX, a state-accredited bilingual (English - Hungarian) EMP (English for Medical Purposes) exam since 2013. She is responsible for providing training courses in EMP testing and assessment in Hungary. She has participated in several national and international conferences with presentations. Her field of research includes corpus linguistics, learner corpora, linguistic modality and EMP testing and assessment.

Ionela IONIȚIU is a lecturer and teaches English for Civil and Mechanical Engineering, English for Dentistry, and English for Arts to Bachelor-degree students, A2-B1 levels. She is interested in course design, curriculum development, assessment materials, writing textbooks, and other publications related to English teaching methodology, engineering English, linguistics, and online teaching. She has participated in national/ international conferences. She also participated in various certified online courses organized by highly-ranked institutions and organizations: "How languages are taught", "The A-B-C of Communication: Topics into Tasks", "Flip to actively engage and to incite learner responsibility in young learners", "How to Sharpen Your ESP learners' Employability Skills", "Everybody Thinks They Can't Before They Can – The Benefits and Drawbacks of Online Teaching". She participated in various national/ international projects either as a coordinator or an expert/ administrative personnel: 1. August 2019 – December 2021: Project member: Cross-Border Maritime Spatial planning for the Black Sea, II; 2. Project code: 68/SGU/NC/I – Tools for the prevention of abandonment in Civil Engineering, Ovidius University of Constanta, INCLUSION; 3. September 2016 – July 2017: Project member: Cross-Border Maritime Spatial planning for the Black Sea – Romania, Bulgaria (MARSPLAN-BS), EASME/EMFF/2014/1.2.1.5/Lot 1/P01; 4. 27 August – 21 September 2012, Project Manager & member: Erasmus Intensive Language Course, to name just a few.

Jasmina JELČIĆ ČOLAKOVAC holds a Senior Assistant position at the Faculty of Maritime Studies, University of Rijeka (Foreign Languages Department), where she has been teaching Maritime English since 2015. She finished her doctoral studies at the Faculty of Arts in Ljubljana in 2017 where she defended her dissertation on the role of conceptual metaphor in vocabulary instruction. Her research interests include language processing and associative relations of English words in Croatian as well as foreign language vocabulary processing and acquisition, on which topic she has published fourteen papers in various domestic and international publications.

Oleksandr KAPRANOV is an associate professor in English linguistics at NLA University College (Norway). Having obtained his PhD from The University of Western Australia in Perth (WA), he taught English linguistics at a number of universities in Sweden and Norway. His was a post-doctoral fellow at The University of Bergen (Norway), where he conducted research on climate change discourse. His current interests involve academic discourse, academic writing, climate change discourse, cognitive linguistics, and psycholinguistics. ORCID: <https://orcid.org/0000-0002-9056-3311>. E-mail: Oleksandr.kapranov@nla.no

Rūta LASAUSKIENĖ is an English teacher at Vilnius Gediminas Technical University (VilniusTech), renowned for her effective teaching methods and commitment to student success. She emphasizes practical language skills, integrating modern technology and interactive activities into her lessons. Lasauskienė's approachable and supportive nature fosters a positive learning environment, encouraging students to actively participate and develop their English proficiency. Her continuous pursuit of professional growth through conferences and workshops ensures she brings the latest educational strategies to her classroom. Lasauskienė's contributions significantly enhance VilniusTech's language programs, preparing students for global communication challenges.

Inés LOZANO-PALACIO (PhD) is an Assistant Professor of Applied Linguistics at the Universitat Politècnica de València in Spain. Her research is framed within Cognitive Linguistics and focuses on figurative language in general and irony in particular, from the perspective of cognitive modeling. She currently serves as an associate editor of the MetBib Project, edited by John Benjamins. Her latest book on irony, Modeling irony: A cognitive-pragmatic account: co-authored with Prof. Francisco Ruiz de Mendoza, was published in 2022 by John Benjamins.

Sorin MIHAI is a General School Inspector within the County School Inspectorate of Constanța and a professor of Romanian language and literature at the "Mircea cel Bătrân" National College in Constanța. Graduated in Philology and Law, he is currently a PhD student at the Doctoral School of Humanities of the "Ovidius" University in Constanța. Among his specialized publications, we mention: "Therapy of Emotions in the Face of The Great War", in Journal of Romanian Literary Studies, 24/2021; "The Great War between Emotion and History", in Marina Cap-Bun et al. (coord.), 100 years of the Romanian novel (Bucharest, 2020); "Ioan Groșan's short prose: new borders of the East-European fantastic", in Marina Cap-Bun, Florentina Nicolae (coord.), in Romanian Studies in the Centenary Year (Bucharest, 2019); "Eastern European Imprints in Fantasy Literature. Ismail Kadare", in Marina Cap-Bun, Florentina Nicolae (coord.), in Eastern European cultures and civilizations: In memoriam Aida Todî (Constanța, 2016).

Mihaela MIRON-FULEA este cadru didactic titular, din anul 1996 până în prezent, al Facultății de Litere, Universitatea „Ovidius” din Constanța, predând atât cursuri de Limba română contemporană (Lexicologie și semantică, Sintaxă, Pragmatică, Semantică), cât și cursuri de cunoaștere aprofundată, adresate studenților- masteranți (Multilingvism și comunicare, Strategii de dialog intercultural, Pragmatica cognitivă). Domeniul major de interes este constituit de Pragmasemantica G(rupului) N(ominal), un loc central fiind rezervat numelor proprii. În calitate de autor, a publicat cărți și numeroase studii și articole de specialitate, la edituri de prestigiu din țară și din străinătate.

Angelo-Nicolae MITCHIEVICI este profesor universitar abilitat în cadrul Facultății de Litere, Universitatea “Ovidius” din Constanța, unde ține cursuri de literatura comparată. Este autor al volumelor: Farmecul vieților distruse. Câteva reflecții despre ratare (Humanitas, 2022), Comunism inc. Istorie despre o lume care a fost (coautor: Ioan Stanomir) (Humanitas, 2016), Caragiale după Caragiale. Arcanele interpretării: exagerări, deformări, excесе (Cartea Românească, 2014), Cultura faliei și modernitatea românească. O introducere și câteva lecturi (Institutul European, 2013), Filmele care ne-au schimbat viața (Eikon, 2013), Umbrele paradisului. Scriitori români și francezi în Uniunea Sovietică (Humanitas, 2011), Symbolism și decadentism în Arta 1900 (Institutul European, 2011), Decadență și decadentism în contextul modernității românești și europene (Curtea Veche, 2011), Teodoreanu reloaded (Coautor Ioan Stanomir) (Art, 2011), Cinema (volum de povestiri) (Polirom, 2009), Mateiu I. Caragiale – fizionomii decadente (ICR, 2007) și coautor al numeroase volume printre care În căutarea comunismului pierdut (Paralela 45, 2001), O lume dispărută. Patru istorii personale urmate de un dialog cu Horia-Roman Patapievici (Polirom, 2004), trilogia Explorări în comunismul românesc (Polirom, 2004, 2005, 2008), Anatomia resentimentului (Editura Curtea Veche, 2010) etc. Angelo Mitchievici este cronicarul de film și literatură al revistei România literară și colaborează la cele mai importante reviste culturale românești: Dilema Veche, Steaua, Idei în dialog, Observator cultural, Timpul, Convorbiri literare, Film, 22, Orizont, etc. Angelo Mitchievici este președintele Filialei Dobrogea a Uniunii Scriitorilor din România, membru UCIN (Uniunea Cineaștilor din România), membru FIPRESCI (The International Federation of Film Critics), membru RAAS (Romanian Association for American Studies), membru al ALGCR (Asociația de literatură generală și comparată din România), membru Pen Club România. Actualmente este directorul Bibliotecii Județene „Ioan N. Roman” din Constanța și directorul Clasei Confucius la Universitatea Ovidius din Constanța.

Dr. Liudmila MOCKIENĖ is a professor and Director of the Institute of Humanities, Mykolas Romeris University (Lithuania). Since 2004, Liudmila Mockienė has taught English for Specific Purposes (areas of Law, Public Administration, Public Policy and Management, Organization Management, Communication and Creative Industries), Contrastive Lexicology and Lexicography to students of bachelor philology programmes (English for Specific Purposes and a Second Foreign Language; Translation and Editing), and conducted research on terminology of these areas, contrastive analysis of the terminology in English and Lithuanian based on corpus linguistics, and translation strategies of terms. Moreover, she has been interested in issues of teaching ESP, using technologies in teaching ESP, as well issues of multilingualism, language and identity. She is also the head (director) of the bachelor philology programme English for Specific Purposes and a Second Foreign Language.

Maria-Elena MUSCAN is associate professor at the Faculty of Letters, Ovidius University of Constanta, Romania, where she teaches German Linguistics and German Grammar. She graduated from the Faculty of Letters of Lucian Blaga University of Sibiu and holds a doctoral degree from the University of Bucharest (with a thesis on Political Euphemism Translation). She offers courses in German Linguistics and in German Grammar at the Faculty of Letters, Ovidius University of Constanta. In 2016 and 2019 she was a visiting professor for German as a foreign language at the University of Heidelberg, Germany. She has also specialized in blended learning scenarios as well as in online teaching, translation studies and didactics of German as a foreign language.

Aneta NAUMOSKA is an Associate Professor in Linguistics at the Department of English Language and Literature, “Blaze Koneski” Faculty of Philology (Ss Cyril and Methodius University in Skopje, N. Macedonia) and CELTA-certified. Her linguistics research interests include the grammatical categories of gender and number (singular ‘they’). She has published papers in international journals and presented at over 20 conferences both at home and abroad. She created the first bilingual business dictionary mobile app (English/Macedonian), and has co-authored University coursebooks in Business English, Aviation English, and Psycholinguistics. Her email address is: naumoska.an@gmail.com

Biljana NAUMOSKA-SARAKINSKA is a full professor at the Department of English Language and Literature, at the “Blaze Koneski” Faculty of Philology within the Ss Cyril and Methodius University in Skopje, Republic of N. Macedonia. Her key interests are in the field of English grammar and linguistics, in the areas of semantics, word formation, morphology, lexicology, as well as ESP – Business English. She teaches a number of core and elective courses at the undergraduate level of studies, including Modern English, Semantics, Business English Communication, as well as Business English at the Faculty of Economy, within the same University. At this level of studies, she is engaged as a visiting professor at the Faculty in Novi Sad. At the postgraduate level, she teaches Topics in Semantics, and at the doctoral level of studies she offers the course Approaches and Studies in Semantics. She has authored a number of coursebooks in the areas of Semantics and Business English (and Communication). Her email address is: biljananaumoska@flf.ukim.edu.mk

Andreea NECHIFOR, PhD, is an associate professor at the Faculty of Letters of Brașov, with the Department of Theoretical and Applied Linguistics, where she teaches courses in pragmatics, discourse analysis, applied linguistics, professional communication strategies, English for specific purposes, applied grammar, oral and writing communicative techniques and English language methodology. She has been a member or a manager of many types of projects, such as 4 POSDRU European projects, two CNCSIS nationally funded research projects, one Leonardo da Vinci project, and 2 Erasmus+ projects. She benefited from multiple professional trainings as a distance learning tutor, e-learning platform administrator, as well as Cambridge exams trainer and Romanian as a foreign language professor. Her research and article publication activity is focused on language acquisition, pragmatics, discourse analysis and E/RSP. As a key expert, in the 2019- 2022/Erasmus+ Project: “Language guidance tool for improving language knowledge/LANGUIDE”, initiated by Univerza Na Primorskem Univerza Del Litorale, Koper/Slovenia, she contributed to the development of a mobile application aimed at offering a modern tool for learning languages and as the manager of the national research project “Gamification-Based Instruction for Teaching Romanian as a Foreign Language” she implemented, together with her team, the concept of game-based teaching into the frame of teaching Romanian as an FL.

Adelina PAVEL is doctoral student at the Doctoral School of Humanities of “Ovidius” University, in Constanța, România. The title of her doctoral thesis is: “Symbolism and Post-Symbolism in the context of Romanian Literature”.

Areas of research: literary criticism, interdisciplinarity, cultural history, educational sciences and psychology. Her contributions to the academic activity includes: “Romanian strategies to face the evil of human existence and their aesthetic implications in George Bacovia’s work” in “Cultural, Linguistic and Geopolitical Interferences in the Romanian Space”, Ofelia Ichim (coord.), Alina-Mihaela Bursuc, Marius-Radu Clim, Ofelia Ichim, Maricica Munteanu, Veronica Olariu, Ana-Maria Prisacaru, Diana Stroescu (eds.), Timișoara, West University of Timisoara, 2023, 566 p., ISBN 978-630-327-043-2; “Writing as liberation from physical limitations: transcendental attempts in Nora Iuga’s work” in Nora Iuga and Nichita Danilov at the National University Colloquium of Literature, Brasov [16th edition], 30-31 May 2019.

Anișoara POP is a Professor and PhD supervisor in English language and linguistics. She teaches English for Medical and Healthcare Purposes, and Medical Translation and Terminology at GE Palade University of Medicine, Pharmacy, Science and Technology of Târgu Mureș, Romania. Her research interests include pragmalinguistic aspects of healthcare communication, narrative medicine, discourse analysis of advertising, nutrition, and eating disorders.

ORCID: <https://orcid.org/0000-0001-6990-9990>, Google scholar: https://scholar.google.com/citations?user=PO\_VAzAAAAAJ&hl=en, Brain map: <https://www.brainmap.ro/anisoara-pop>.

Eglė SELEVIČIENĖ, PhD, is a lecturer of English for Specific Purposes (ESP) and Modern English (Phonetics) at the Institute of Humanities, Mykolas Romeris University, Lithuania. Her research focuses on integrating various Web-based learning technologies into ESP classrooms and evaluating their effectiveness and acceptance from the perspectives of both teachers and learners. It also highlights the importance of adapting to rapidly changing technologies to meet the needs of the society and enhance learning outcomes in higher education. Notably, in 2020, at the very outbreak of the COVID-19 pandemic, she defended her doctoral thesis titled “The Effectiveness and Acceptance of Web 2.0 Technologies in the Studies of English for Specific Purposes in Higher Education”, which was very timely and has hopefully contributed to the field.

Albena STEFANOVA is a senior lecturer in English at the University of National and World Economy in Sofia, Bulgaria. She holds a PhD in Methodology of Teaching Modern Languages, a master’s degree in English Philology, and bachelor’s degrees in Portuguese Philology and Theory and History of Diplomacy. She has been teaching English to students of philosophy, policing, law, economics and political studies for over twenty-five years. Her main interests are ESP – functional communicative competence and translation – specialised in economics and political studies. Over the last years she has been focused on needs analysis in ESP, the development of interactive tasks and syllabi for effective ESP courses, optimisation in language teaching by encouragement of students’ engagement, autonomy and self-direction. Membership in professional organisations: BETA-Bulgaria, actual president, BETA

Membership Secretary 2014-2018; IATEFL – ESP SIG Scholarships and PR Manager 2018-2023; TESOL.

Dr. Giedrė VALŪNAITĖ OLEŠKEVIČIENĖ (ORCID <https://orcid.org/0000-0001-5688-2469>) is a professor at the Institute of Humanities, Mykolas Romeris University. Since 2008 she has taught English for Specific Purposes (areas of Psychology and Social Work, Law and Public Administration, Business Management, Communication and Creative Industries), Discourse Analysis, Syntax and ESP Theory to students of bachelor philology programmes (English for Specific Purposes and a Second Foreign Language; Translation and Editing). Her scientific interests in the domain of humanities include discourse analysis, corpus analysis, professional English and legal English, and in the domain of social science, educational science her scientific interests include social research methodology, modern education, philosophical issues, creativity development in modern education system, education digitalization etc. The researcher is also actively engaged in second language teaching and learning research, linguistics and translation research. The researcher coordinated international research projects funded by the EU, published scientific articles, participated as a presenter in scientific conferences.

Cecilia-Iuliana VÂRLAN, PhD is a senior lecturer at the Faculty of Letters, Ovidius University of Constanta, Romania. The main topics of her research are German literature, Translation Studies, and Didactics and Methodology of Teaching Foreign Languages.